Willie Crawford's WORST TRAFFIC TACTIC

"You Get What You Pay For"

The Worst Web Traffic Tactic I personally used was purchasing "Guaranteed Traffic".

I purchased guaranteed hits from a few sources just to confirm my suspicions. I didn't think I would get very high quality responsive traffic, but...it only costs a few bucks so why not try it.

The traffic generated came from exit pop-ups and popunders on unrelated sites. The problem with this is, most of the visitors are not interested in your site, they are not targeted traffic. That's why the traffic is so cheap.

I spent a couple hundred dollars for well over a 100,000 guaranteed visitors that delivered less than 0.02% of any kind of response...even for a free newsletter or a free report.

It was very much wasted money and wasted time.

Although, I guess when I look at how cheap it was, it was not a total waste...but it was worst traffic technique I personally tried.

While traffic was delivered to my website, the conversion rate was practically non-existent.
